Dear Hiring Manager,

I am eager to apply for the Developer Relations Associate position at Eclipse. With over two decades of community management experience at industry leaders like Zynga and Internet Brands, and collaborations with clients such as Forbes and Cointelegraph, I specialize in engaging incredibly diverse audiences and crafting impactful content of all kinds for my communities.

Graduating top of my class from Fullstack Academy has bolstered my expertise in modern web development, including JavaScript and SQL as well as with frameworks like React, Node.js, Express.js, and Prisma ORM. I'm honestly quite eager to code, and was delighted to read that you may ask whoever you hire to help dev teams code with some of the simpler, open-source projects. That sounds like the perfect way to really get into the developer community and build a relationship with them.

What's even more exciting is the chance to travel to connect with developers where they're coding — nothing really beats a face-to-face connection! This is why I have always enjoyed setting up events for my communities — it's delightful to sit back and watch people making connections.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to discussing how my skills and experiences can contribute to Eclipse's marketing team and its mission to shape the ecosystem of the next generation!

Best,
