New Relic
Hiring Team
Remote

Dear Hiring Team,

As a Customer Success professional with a strong background in customer-facing roles, I am adept at being the first point of contact, ensuring a positive and professional experience for every individual. Following a rigorous Full-Stack Web Development certification at Fullstack Academy, I have operated at the explicit intersection of relationship management and technical infrastructure. I am incredibly enthusiastic about the Technical Success Manager position at New Relic, where I can help your users confidently navigate your platform.

My experience includes managing sensitive client information, maintaining detailed records, and utilizing various software systems for data entry and reporting—skills that align directly with the responsibilities of this role. At Community.co, I managed the platform adoption and account health lifecycles for corporate networks, driving platform engagement from an initial 2% to a robust 7%. I am a quick learner, highly organized, and thrive in fast-paced environments that require deep focus and the ability to multitask effectively, whether automating reporting loops with custom scripts or translating user requirements into actionable engineering sprints.

I am confident that my professional demeanor, technical writing foundation, and dedication to quality service would make me a valuable addition to your team. While serving as a Customer Success Specialist and UX Liaison at Internet Brands, I increased customer satisfaction from 61% to 96% by building comprehensive technical documentation and knowledge bases from scratch. I am eager to learn more about this opportunity and discuss how I can contribute to an outstanding customer experience at New Relic.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to discussing how my background in technical translation and customer relationship management can drive long-term user success and retention.

Sincerely,
